

Describing Your Possible Path to
‘The Life of
Your Dreams’

Welcome!

Describing Your Possible Path to 'The Life of Your Dreams'

It's an ideal you've recently chosen to pursue. Here's our guess as to how it might unfold. 😊

The first indication that you've begun creating the life of your dreams is probably a feeling of relief.

Your mind is now prepared to stop the insanity in your present life long enough for you to take a deep breath and consider a different, happier, more comfortable future.

And you will feel that in your HEART.

From there, your feelings may progress towards HOPE. You've likely tried something like this before so you have to throw caution to the wind to some degree in order to try again. Hope will quickly rush in to replace that caution.

Progress is soon made towards ACCOMPLISHMENT. You need something to measure with your mind. We'll assume for the moment that completing our Course and beginning to play the Game of Change constitutes sufficient evidence that you're accomplishing something meaningful.

And now the dreams part kicks in

So,
Dreamer, whadya'
want?

Your self-help library is probably a good place to start. Each purchase represents your genuine ambition/desire to create an improved quality-of-life for yourself. Sounds like a great dream to us! Notice how ambition comes from your mind and desire from your heart; this is an important distinction to carry forward, as we'll explain.

Meanwhile, your library has remained relatively untouched, largely because your mind and heart haven't yet learned how to synchronize (for the second time in your life) their respective superpowers in the service of your HAPPINESS.

We're going to show you how to marry those two back together again. Then you'll be participating in our company motto, OMTW.™ For Ours Makes Theirs Work. You supply the dreams, we'll bring the plan for achieving them.

At which point you'll become FIBU. Our acronym for Feel Invincible, Become Unstoppable.

And The Life Of Your Dreams now becomes a realistic possibility. However, here's an interesting twist to this journey to your dreams which we think you'll like.

We don't wish to influence your choices, but it would be our guess that by the time you're fully engaged in the Course material your dreams and desires will have taken a major turn in your favor. Mostly by virtue of your now seeking more happiness, rather than material improvements – and giving yourself permission to let what you desire in your dreams create that happiness for you.

I Change My Mind For Good, And Make How
I Want To Feel More Important Than What I Want To Achieve.

Because When People
Seek To Be Happy, First,
All The Success They Can Handle Shows Up Anyway!

How can you possibly know what else you'll want once happiness is what you want most?

You can dream of being thinner, fitter, healthier, richer, lighter, prettier, closer to God and in a fantastic relationship, but... the fastest and surest path to all those beautiful goals is paved with your high-quality desire for lots more happiness in your life, first.

You're struggling to make the change
because the old behavior is still meeting
a need.

Instead of shaming yourself, identify the deeper need and allow it to exist.

Then get curious about a new way to meet it